

First time course
for the sixth annual Annapolis 10-Mile Run

The 10-mile run

...one more time

En route

The pack of runners (above) charged down Annapolis' Main Street long before traffic there became heavy creating a scenic backdrop and a new experience for the old street. At top right, Herb Chisholm, the winner in the 50-59 age group, uses the water the best way he knows how. At right is one of those starters who didn't make it to the finish at Navy-Marine Memorial Stadium. And, below, those who made it first are given plaques by Mayor Richard Hillman, who was the official starter and ran in the race. From left are Hillman, run coordinator Walt Eihlers, women's winner Eleanor Simonsick and overall winner Gary Siriano.
